24 Hours in C-Town

Calgary is the gateway to Banff, but don't just drive through. Most of the city has recovered from the effects of last summer's devastating floods, and now is a great time to visit and support local businesses

DO There are plenty of shopping options in oil-rich Calgary; the Chinook Centre (chinookcentre.com) is home to designer boutiques like Burberry and Maison Birks, while 17th Avenue offers indie labels and playful accessories at Purr and Gravity Pope. Stop by the Esker Foundation (eskerfoundation.com) and Museum of Contemporary Art (mocacalgary.org) for a modern-art fix, then take the self-guided Downtown Public Art Circuit tour—it's surprisingly compelling. (Don't miss Wonderland, the 12-metre-high bent-wire sculpture of a young girl's head by artist Jaume Plensa, located outside the soaring Bow building.)

book a table in advance, and be sure to try the duck-fat poutine. We also loved the River Café's (river-cafe.com) house-made candied salmon and bison bresaola. And Jelly Modern Doughnuts' (jellymoderndoughnuts.com) yeast and cake concoctions (topped with Smarties and gummi bears) are most definitely Homer-approved.

STAY Frette linens and Molton Brown toiletries add a luxe touch to the ultra-mod rooms at Le Germain (germaincalgary.com), a stone's throw from the iconic Calgary Tower. The cozy, Relais & Châteaux–approved Kensington Riverside Inn (kensingtonriversideinn.com) lends out cruisers from Brooklyn Bicycles, but you'll have to bike across the Bow River to get downtown.
